

Why rent when buying is within reach?

In today's strong housing market, buying a home can be a good financial decision. According to RealtyTrac's Rental Affordability Analysis, buying is more affordable than renting in the majority of U.S. markets.

In addition to affordability, there are a number of benefits associated with homeownership.

- Monthly mortgage payments can build equity.
- Control over design, renovations, improvements, etc., means you create the home you want.
- A home can increase in value and provide a positive return on investment.
- Take advantage of deductions for mortgage interest and property taxes. (Please consult a tax advisor regarding deductions.)
